Qur'an word for word, exactly as they came from God. Now that we know   /> that prophet we must I'sten to h'm, for, according to the B'ble, God  /> says: 'I w'll pun'sh anyone who refuses to obey h'm' (Good News B'ble, br /> Deut. 18:19). Jesus (on whom be peace) In the Glor'ous Qur'an The Qur'an-/> tells us many wonderful things about Jesus. As a result, believers in   /> the Qur'an love Jesus, honor him and believe in him. In fact, no Muslim   /> can be a Muslim unless he or she believes in Jesus, on whom he peace   /> The Qur'an says that Jesus was born of a v'rg'n, that he spoke wh'le he br /> was st'll only a baby, that he healed the blind and the lener by God's br /> leave and that he raised the dead by God's leave. What then is the   /> significance of these miracles? First, the virgin birth, God or /> demonstrates H's power to create 'n every way. God created everyone we br /> know from a man and a woman. But how about Adam, on whom be peace? God   /> without a woman. And finally, to complete the picture, God created Jesus br /> from a woman without a man. What about the other miracles? These were < br /> to show that Jesus was not acting on his own behalf, but that he was   /> backed by God. The Our'an specifies that these miracles were performed   /> by God's leave. Th's may be compared to the Book of Acts in the Bible,   /> chanter 2 verse 22 where it says that the miracles were done by God to-br /> show that he approved of Jesus. Also, note that Jesus himself is   /> recorded in the Gospel of John to have said: 'I can do nothing of my own
-> author'ty' (5:30). The m'racles, therefore, were done not by h's own   /> authority, but by God's authority. What d'd Jesus teach? The Qur'an  /> tells us that Jesus came to teach the same bas'c message wh'ch was   /> taught by previous prophets from God - that we must shun every false godbr /> and worship only the One True God. Jesus taught that he is the servant   /> and messenger of the One True God, the God of Abraham. These Qur'an'c or /> teachings can be compared with the Bible (Mark 10:18; Matthew 26:39;   /> John 14:28, 17:3, and 20:17) where Jesus teaches that the one he br />worshipped is the only true God. See also Matthew 12:18: Acts 3:13, and   /> 4:27 where we find that his disciples knew him as 'Servant of God'. The br /> Qur'an tells us that some of the Israel'tes re'ected Jesus, and   /> conspired to kill him, but God rescued Jesus and raised him to Himself.   /> God w'll cause Jesus to descend aga'n, at which time Jesus will confirm br /> h's true teachings and everyone w'll bel'eve in him as he is and as the   /> Qur'an teaches about him. Jesus is the Messiah. He is a word from God,  /> and a spirit from Him. He is honored in this world and in the hereafter. and he 's one of those brought nearest to God. Jesus was a man who br /> spoke the truth which he heard from God. This can be compared with the   /> Gospel According John where Jesus says to the Israelites: 'You are   /> determined to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard   /> from God' (John 8:40).> </blockguote></blockguote></d'v> <d'v class="clear" al'gn="r'ght"></d'v>  <hr />    <d'v class="new_serv'ces" al'gn="r'ght">
